Renaissance Strategic Advisors Promotes Matthew Mejia to Managing Partner

Arlington, VA – Aerospace/defense strategy advisory and M&A due diligence firm, Renaissance Strategic Advisors is pleased to announce that effective from the start of the year Matthew Mejia was promoted to Managing Partner.

Matthew Mejia has been promoted to Managing Partner and will continue to be one of the key leaders in the firm's M&A practice and serve as the senior partner in charge of the commercial aerospace business. Managing Partner, Pierre Chao, commented that, "Matt has brought a unique set of capabilities to the firm and is a widely respected leader in the aerospace and defense M&A market. This promotion reflects our confidence in Matt's management and leadership and the increasing responsibility he has taken on since joining us."

Prior to joining RSAdvisors, Matthew served in leadership positions at both Booz & Co. and Charles River Associates. He also spent nearly a decade as a Vice President at First Equity Development, a boutique investment bank focused on aerospace & defense advisory and merchant banking activities.

Fellow Managing Partner Jeff Roncka stated, "Matthew plays a critical role in RSAdvisors' due-diligence, M&A planning and execution support practice areas, not to mention, offering clients considerable expertise in the commercial and civil aviation markets, and we welcome him to the partnership."

Renaissance Strategic Advisors is a Washington D.C. and London based, aerospace and defense industry advisory firm focused on corporate strategy development, strategic business development services and due diligence/M&A support services. The firm works with clients across the full lifecycle – from venture start-ups to industry leaders; and up and down the value chain – from component manufacturers to prime contractors.
